

GOD'S SPECIAL TIME

KAIROS TRAINING

What: Advanced Kairos Training (AKT)

When: 20-22 August (Friday evening through Sunday morning)

Where: John Wesley Ranch, Divide, Colorado

A trainer from Kairos National will conduct this training for Kairos team members who are scheduled to be rectors anytime in 2004 or 2005, or who aspire to be rectors eventually, or who just want to go through the training. AKT is mandatory for all Rectors prior to their Weekend, preferably prior to beginning their team formation. The Colorado State Committee offers AKT at least once a year. Other State Committees offer AKT at other times and locations, but that involves additional travel expense. Cost of ours is $130, of which the State Committee pays $100 for Colorado team members. Class size is limited, so register soon! Contact is Dick Evans (see page 3).

THE DOMINO EFFECT

When we go into a Kairos Weekend, we don't know God's intentions. He sets up situations He wants to set up. He draws anybody He wants to Himself, drugs and gangs notwithstanding. And the drawing in of one man can lead to the drawing in of his whole family. To illustrate, here is a true story that began on a recent Colorado Kairos. The actual names have been changed to:

Victor (Kairos team member)

Juan (Inmate on a Kairos Weekend)

Roberto (Fellow worker with Victor on the outside).

On a Kairos Weekend Victor mentions to Juan that Juan has the same last name as Roberto. Juan says "Hey, small world. Roberto is my brother, one of my seven brothers - and four of them are in prison. Our whole family is either on drugs or alcohol, or they are drug pushers." Turns out that Juan has been in and out of prison all his life -- since age 15. His mom has never visited him or his brothers once in all that time. There is a lot of anger and hate in that family.

Victor tells Juan that he's been talking to Roberto about Jesus. To this news Juan breaks down crying and puts his head on Victor's shoulder and cries a long time -- the tears of encounter with Jesus. When he stops crying, he asks Victor to tell his brother: "I've given my life to God and you should do the same. It's time for the family to start healing."

Juan is one of the leaders of a major street gang. One of the members of the gang gets released from the prison and tells Roberto that Juan has forgotten where he came from. That means that Juan is no longer associating with the gang. Victor goes to the next Kairos reunion and, sure enough, he sees Juan out in the yard running laps by himself with a big smile on his face, and with a gleam in his eyes that tells it all. Juan is not going to the reunions because he doesn't want to mess with the hornet's nest - the gang members who do go to the reunion, but that doesn't mean he hasn't changed. He just doesn't want anything to do with the gangs, so he keeps to himself. The best he can do right now is quietly share the word and his new life in Christ with a few inmates he feels he can trust.

Juan will be getting out of prison later this year. He is fearing for his life. He has to be real careful. A gang doesn't just let you out. Victor knows this because he has been working with gang members on the street for a long time. God planned it that way. He is working through Victor. Roberto is going to church now with Victor - and so is one of Roberto's nephews. Juan's and Roberto's mother is going to visit Juan for the first time ever. Christian action on a Kairos Weekend has started a domino effect in that family. As Juan told his brother, "It's time for the family to start healing."

"I was in prison and you came to me." (Matthew 25:36)

NEWS

- ◆ Limon Volunteer Award. On 13 May Lt Butch Ragland of the Limon CF conducted the Limon “Annual Volunteer Ceremony,” at which he cited Dick Evans and our LCF team as the “2004 Volunteer Group of the Year.” We thank God for this team and ask His continuing blessing on Limon Kairos!
- ◆ Sterling East. Kairos Weekend #1 for Sterling East units is now in planning stage. Inmates in the North and South units can not intermix, but those in the two lesser-security East units can, so a single Kairos program can serve both units together. Target for Weekend #1 is March 2005. For details of team formation, please contact Wayne Park.
- ◆ Brush Women’s. There is now an initiative to start Kairos in the women’s prison at Brush, Colorado. This is a new private prison under DOC contract. The eventual inmate population is to be about 250. Contact is Jan Loesch (see page 3).
- ◆ Facility Liaison / Coordinator. At least three of our facilities have now split the traditional “coordinator” function into two jobs – on-site (“Coordinator”) and off-site (“Facility Liaison”). On-site does the coordinating and “security” work inside when the team is on site. Off-site does all the paper work with DOC Headquarters and with the facility (clearances, schedules, entrance arrangements, etc). This is now the case at Cañon Women's, Fremont, and Territorial. So far, the Off-site person is also the Advisory Council representative to the State Committee.
- ◆ Vice Chairman. At it’s meeting on 26 May the State Committee designated Bob Reilman as Vice Chairman. This responsibility is in addition to those for Recruiting and Outreach. Thank you, Bob.
- ◆ John Barney, Mentor. On 23 April John Barney, one of the founders of Kairos of Colorado, went home to be with the Lord. In 1983 John was on the first two men’s Kairos teams in Colorado – Fremont #1 and #2. In June 1985 he led the initiative to form a Colorado corporation for raising and managing funds for this new ministry – “Kairos of Colorado, Inc.” He served as the first President of its Board of Directors – aka “The Board.” As a Professional Civil Engineer and General Contractor he built many buildings and houses, but what will last much longer are the spiritual lives he helped to rebuild. Through his example and teaching, he brought many to Jesus, to renewed lives. Jesus told his disciples that He had chosen them “to go and bear fruit – fruit that will last” (John 15:16). John knew he was chosen,

THREE ENCOUNTERS WITH KAIROS

You can encounter Kairos from three different viewpoints: as prison staff, as inmate, as outside team.

To the prison staff Kairos means an unusually large number of outsiders all at once, lots of equipment, food, scheduling abnormalities – all with the possibility of security risk, passing of contraband, and other irregularities. Some staffers view Kairos team members as well-meaning but maybe a little naive. On the plus side, where Kairos has been in place for a while, staff members view Kairos as a program that brings about a calming atmosphere – not just in the inmates directly involved, but throughout the whole prison! Each time an outside team leaves, something special is left behind – God's love, whether recognized as such, or not.

To the inmates Kairos means there are people out there who care about them, who come in to sing and pray and fellowship with them, to share God's love and Good News with them. This is a very different scene from what they experience day by day. In prison they find themselves viewed as security risks with numbers, maybe with a last name. In Kairos they find themselves in a trusting environment with no number, and with first names. In prison they have found a world of low self respect, lack of self discipline, lack of "civilized" values, domination by inmate and staff control. In Kairos they find a world of affirmation, gentle order, high moral values. In short, they find that God loves them, people write letters to them, care for them in many affirming ways. They experience the redeeming love of Jesus Christ – right there in the prison!

To the outside team Kairos means a special opportunity to share God's agape love with people who live in cages, to encourage them in their Christian walks, to facilitate their forming Christian community. Empowered by the Holy Spirit, the team becomes a cavalry from Calvary, overpowering a hostile environment with the love and forgiveness of Jesus Christ. In the process, they also find special blessings for themselves right from the throne of God. This was not their initial purpose but it is always an outcome – the team member realizes over and over again that even behind prison walls the victory always belongs to

Salvation is by grace, rewards are by works. (Romans 1:16 and 2:6)
